

Product Launches

Sasha Bikoff Releases a New Crop of Designs

What references 17th-century maps, celestial skylscapes, and antique lace? Sasha Bikoff's collection for American mosaic company New Ravenna. "With all my travels, I'm continuously being inspired by tiles and stones from all over the world," Bikoff explains to AD PRO. "But I really wanted to create a collection that was undeniably American, which I felt was lacking in the market. And when I think of classic American iconography, the bandana is a textile that always resonates." Bikoff's bandana is arguably the standout, but thanks to the line's varied references, there's something for lovers of Italian and American style alike.